Claire "Fluff" Llewellyn

Born in Worcester, England, Claire Llewellyn (nickname "Fluff"), is an actress/filmmaker/writer/poet. Her first adventure in the world of entertainment was as a singer/lyricist in a rock band called 'Stir Crazy'. She pursued her musical interests and it ultimately lead her to the USA, where she found herself on stage in an entirely different role as an assistant to a Gothic Illusionist. Soon she was acting in local horror productions and started her own company, 'Bloody Brit Productions', where she writes, produces, directs and acts in her own movies.

She has published three poetry books, 'LOVE is a KILLER', 'RHYME & REASON: Facets of a Life' and 'RASCALS INC.', with the latter being an illustrated children's book for charity. Her other work includes: news presenter for an independent cable and internet news programme; background actor in major T.V. and film productions including as a nun in 'The Exorcist' T.V. series. She is also acting in other indie productions whilst always looking for new opportunities to grow as an actor and creator.

Lomai is a Chicago based writer/director who has begun to build an extensive and impressive list of credits, working on short films, videos and independent features, including his own debut film, the sci-fi/fake documentary "Proven". Lomai has also written (under his real name, Tommy Sigmon) an impressive array of screenplays, including the thriller "Sin Verite", which placed in the top twenty percent of all screenplays that were accepted into the Nicholl Fellowship script contest, and the sci-fi fantasy adventure "The Kid-Verse Adventures", which is currently being developed with David Waite of Jupiter Films as a potential tent-pole release.

Jessica Ridenour is an actor and producer. She has been working as a performer in Chicago since 2010 and in recent years has become increasingly active on the other side of the camera, directing and producing several projects. This is her fourth Walkie Talkie, having previously produced and performed in The Green Heron: Or, Should I be Scared?, The Night Heron, and Saving Solstice.

Celia Valerie is an actor, filmmaker, and shark conservationist from Chicago. She loves representing the beauty of our city. Some favorite past roles include Iris in the literacy program for children At The Garden, Anne Frank in the Diary of Anne Frank, Raja Englanderova in I Never Saw Another Butterfly, and Velma Kelly in Chicago. She's so excited to show off Chicago's beautiful parks.
